Whig Mass Meeting.

HON, W. E. FINCK and HON, WM, DEN-NISON, Ja., will address the Whigs of MEIGS county, at the COURT-HOUSE IN POMEROY. NEXT FRIDAY, (Sept. 24th), at 1 o'clock, p. m. Whigs, Democrats, Free Democrats, and fellow-citizens generally are invited. Come onecome all.

The Nominations.

In another column we give the proceedings of the Whig county convention. In this columo may be seen the county ticket. The deliberations of the convention were marked with unanmity and good feeling.

lo. Some of them have served the county long the nominees extends, we deem them unexceptionable. Now, go to work, and elect them by matter more fully: a right handsome majority. The Democrats have a good ticket-so have you. At any other time, a few bolters from the Whig ticket, or even the the Whig party less injury than at present. If you do not, look out for squalls. We understand that Meies can, if she will, roll jack-knife.' up a Whig majority of from four to six hundred. Now, let us see her do it.

The Club Meeting.

As we predicted, the court-house was well filled on last Tuesday evening. Hon. J. Welch, our Representative in Congress, was present, and entertained the audience for two hours, in his usually happy manner. His argument was principally to show that the Whig party at the present day is, in reality, the Democratic party. This was shown, 1st, from the nominations of Scott nomination—the latter because a minority of the the will of a MAJORITY of the PROPLE, and give them just such a candidate as they (the slaveholding minority) pleased. 2. Fire in Pomeroy.

Three dwellings, in the vicinity of the "Salt Works, were burned to the ground on Tuesday morning last. The fire originated, we understand, from a defect in one of the chimneys. Loss about $1,200, mostly covered by insurance. The buildings were surrounded by old, dry frame bouses, which were preserved from destruction by covering the parts nearest the fire with Salt, and then anturating it with water. This is the first time we have ever known a building preserved by saft. By the way, half a dozen more fires may possibly impress our citizens with the fact, that if, at tor. some future time, they could make it convenient The Whigs of Gallipolis raised a fine polto subscribe a small sum toward the purchase of on the 10th. There are so many frame houses, that it is difficult to prevent a fire from communicating with neighboring buildings.

Evidences of Prosperity.

All around and about us, the evidences of the rapid and substantial growth of Portsmouth present themselves to the eye. Front time will present a solid mass of brick and mortar. Nearly all of the old 'traps' have disappeared, and their places honored with plendid blocks.

Market street is also 'coming out,' and claiming its share of business. It is now building up rapidly with business houses, and others are in contemplation.

The depot buildings are going forward, and in a short time the 'iron horses' will have a stable in every way worthy of such monster animals. In their vicinity, we are informed, Mr. McDowell will erect a mammoth warehouse.

We might speak of improvements in other portions of the city, but this will answer for the present.

Portsmouth has now reached a point where she cannot 'stand still,' but must increase with greater rapidity than heretofore -and we are informed by those acquainted with such matters, that the improvement next year will outstrip those of any previous year. This prediction, we feel convinced. with instruments by the Secretary of the will be fully realized, as our railroad connections north and south are now beginning to assume great importance throughout the country, and cannot fail to draw capitalists from other and less favored points .- Ports-

A Rascally Transaction.

RUN INTO AND SUNE .- The Cincinnati

257 Enquirer of the 17th inst., says: The Gen-503 eral Gaines arrived here on Wednesday lust, 663 from Pittsburgh, and we learn that she did, 56 after unloading a portion of her freight 97 which she had for this place, pull up stakes 365 yesterday morning and put off for the lower 124 country, with the balance of her freight on 1,846 board. The reason assigned for her sudden 14,320 flight is, that she sunk a tow-boat which she had along side, loaded with goods, all of 1,954 which were lost. None of the goods, we 149 believe, were insured; or rather, they were 105 insured with the understanding that they were to come down on the General Gaines, $92,091 59 had any. Such an accident would make the boat responsible for all the goods lost, 32,326 34 and hence the reason, we suppose, that the boat was taken with a sudden leaving, fear-221 46 ing, probably, that she would be tied up.—
